CLASS ODE 1970

Confronted by the vastness and yet the Meagerness of existence, all shades of Surface anticipation yielding
Irretrievably to a deeper dread,
One pauses on the taunting edge of base truth,
Looks about and spies some entity, some
Object renewing faith and contentment.
Recognizing it spontaneously,
Whether it be a child, a flower,
An idea, a balloon, one senses the
Restorative powers of its essence
Renewing a glorious universe
Of temporarily unrealized peace.

John Lennon

Class History Of 1970

Our Class has been in and out of trouble since kindergarten. Our first encounter was kindergarten when Laurie W. and Sue M. were picked up by the police for traipsing through traffic. Snack time for the lucky ones brought fig newtons and apple juice. Wilson B. lost a tooth while being bullied by Leslie F. and friend. We became full-fledged musicians playing such selections as "Swannee River" and "Bicycle Built for Two" on our plastic flute-phones. And three stars were born — Wilson on violin, Pat on ukele and John M. on live radio. They rated an assembly the next day . . . Mr. King's Owl went to the bathroom on Janet R.'s head. Dave B. and Jeanne D. were involved in a keen competition, they banged their heads against a brick wall to see who had the hardest head. Other recess activities were kickball; where we tried to sneak over to pet Sheila's pony, and snow sculpture. Peter W. took advantage of these recess periods during his love affair with Ann-Marie H., by chasing her around the playground. The Class of 70 joined the entertainment world in a Talent Show; Don M. was Mitch Miller and John P. sang "Tip-toe Through the Tulips." Hawaiian Day at Central School, the Hula Dancers were: Dan G., Lyn R., Kitsy, Heather B., and Dave D., Then Scituate's Anniversary celebration, an Indian Pageant. During a war dance Didla stole Kitsy's tomahawk. Mrs. Mitchell seated all the lefties in the front row to teach them all a new method of handwriting. Our class was stricken by a few passionate love affairs. Sherry and Jill fought over Joe R. and Julie loved Stafford. John Lopes said that he'd marry Ellen Young for a penny.

In fourth grade all the girls fought over their latest discovery Bob H. Mr. Doyle's class tried to grow plants on the cafeteria roof. Dottie got stuck up there.

Sixth grade we were suddenly grown up, except for Laurie W. She was STILL wetting her pants. All the grade schools were united. The girl's affections were divided between Mr. Pratt and Mr. Gaul. Joe R. and Leslie B. led the class into sin . . . he kissed her on April Fool's Day. Dave B. and his nice knees in his Scottish kilt at the Open House. Mr. Abell's Beatles Valentine's Day party was a big hit. Remember the tests? Spell Ohio in Morse code and you passed. And his ever popular version of MacBeth. Sue P. moved in from Hawaii and tried to teach us the Hula. Mrs. Smith took her French classes to a French restaurant. You went hungry if you couldn't speak French.

And on to the Jr. High — our first year without recess. Going steady was the fashion. Marty and Lyn, Wilson and Leslie, Lynda and Dennis, Mark and Karen, Ruthann and Peter, Janice and Joe, Ann and Louie, Abe and the High School boys and Debby even got Dave's initial ring. Michelle and Billy were the first and consequently were lectured by Mrs. Smith for an hour. Many seemed to have their vocations cut out for them: Wilson as a musician in the Fugitives, Cathy H. a scientist working with incubators and chicken eggs, Elin, Leslie and their mothers seemed to be groupies, Debby, Powie, Kris, Linda and Gayle were perfect for Cheerleading, Paula a Girl Scout leader, Didla and Kevin priests, Jeff's stage name would be Obidiah Flummery in his singing career, Kim and Kevin S. Olympic jumpers, Judy a disc jockey, Pat R. an honest politician and Sara a star of her own series entitled "Gidget". Then it was long bangs, scrub denims, bleeding madras, saddle shoes, English Walkers, granny dresses, penny loafers with dimes and desert boots. But Cathy H. and Wayne S. led the crowd with her go-go boots and his purple pants. In science we learned the value of conservation first hand in our movie "Michael Row the Boat Ashore," produced and directed by Mr. Kelly. In Jr. High we had uniforms in gym. The boys were introduced to community showers. Our feet were checked for athletes feet and planter's warts. The girls "accidently" hitting tennis balls into the graveyard. Our indecency tests (what was your rating?) and slam books were confiscated if you weren't careful. Leslie, Hunt and Hooker committed the unbelievable crime of skipping a class in the Girl's Room and caught (naturally) by Mrs. Smith and had to call their parents. Remember the silent lunches in the cafeteria, fights with the table markers and table captains? The after school dances; Mr. Gilarde danced with Miss Dacke closer than Mrs. Smith's 12 inches. Mrs. White's typing class which she referred to as the bumper car class. Jeanne M. fainted from her T.B. shot and Cindi O. was the class flirt. Will you ever forget the day you got the note with the real words to "Loui, Loui" on it? There were some real good parties: Alice D's after the first Student Council dance with the go-go dancers on the dining room chairs. Hacker's party at the Yardarm and Judy's parties where we wrestled, Freddied, Jerked and watched Sue A. and Tommy L. Did anyone ever see Mr. Olsen's toupee fall off?

On to the High School where our fears turned from Mr. Bordne to Mr. Drinkwater. Gary B. didn't last long. His clothing didn't pass the dress code on the first day. Our first thought was a means of making the gossip column: Cindi's crush on Dave H., Leslie's tomato fight on the football field, Yoga in the Girl's Room and Sara, Julie and Debbie were involved in a Cafeteria battle. All the girls envied Abe, Julie and Chris because of their Prom dates but the majority of the girls made it serving punch. Wilson and Jimmy C. had to stand for a while with their noses inside two circles on the blackboard, upon Mr. Haley's request. Rumor had it that Wilson and Leslie would get married. They were so much in love. Our weekends were spent at "Tradewinds", although we spent much of our time walking to the Harbor or Bishops. We usually ended up at Sundown or Peggoty Beach. Remember the Computer dance where many refused to wear their numbers until they saw who they had.

Sophomore year we were happy to be anything but Freshmen. Mr. C's biology class with the 12 go-go microbes and seances on the fire blanket. Ellen Y. chipped Steve G.'s tooth playing football. Other activities were Dreamwold dances, playing King of the Mountain at the Pitts and parties at Brian's field. Bernie ended the year perfectly with his campaign for Pres. by shaking hands with the silent majority.

Junior year the Prom was a smash. The Surf was filled with likely prospects, and the show was really good, considering there was only a week of rehearsals. We lost most of our eligible boys to Class of 71. In Feb. the great snowstorms hit and we didn't have school for weeks. Bob B. pulled the shower chain and Jon T. Blew up a car. Deb M. skipped school and came back with a police escort.

Finally Senior year. We've almost made it. Remember Kitsie's vacation parties. Just a small private party. The real Paul M. came out when his coat got caught on the fire alarm. Whitney Woods and World's end. For the Sr. Show we rehearsed for 10 days instead of 7. Mrs. Bates pulled us through and it was a success even though Louise's balloon didn't pop. Could we have made it through the past four years without Mrs. West and Mr. Nord? Maybe but we wouldn't have emerged with as much a success without their help.

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE

This year's A.F.S. student is Jean MacFarlane from New Zealand. Jean has shown an active interest in Scituate High and its extracurricular activities.

Scituate High in return has responded warmly to Jean. One example of this was the surprise birthday party given to her by the senior class in November.

The A.F.S. club, as well as the entire student body, has greatly enjoyed having Jean with us for a year and hope we have shown her a little American hospitality.
